

Schulte Roth & Zabel Summer Program '18

What Our Summer Associates
Say About Schulte

A lot of firms highlight their commitment to pro bono, but Schulte truly demonstrates its commitment by organizing a pro bono week in which every summer associate is seconded to a nonprofit organization for an entire week. My experience at pro bono week was eye-opening and it felt good to be able to help people directly with the challenges that they were facing.

I could not be happier spending my summer at Schulte. I think it is unique to find a big law firm where the people are so warm and open, where the work is stimulating and where you can have amazing experiences at the summer events.

The summer program has helped me explore different practice areas through a variety of substantive assignments, formal training, social events and mentorships. Everyone I met at Schulte has been very welcoming and interested in supporting my professional development.

A typical day for me would be drafting documents for a hedge fund or working on an IPO during the day, then going to a firm event in the evening, such as playing catch on Citi Field after a Mets game or a networking event with one of the practice areas in the firm.

Going into the summer, I was not sure what type of work I would like the most. Having the opportunity to work with different groups throughout the summer has better informed me of the kind of work different groups do and what I would be doing in those departments as an associate.

One of my favorite things about the summer program is that you actually get the chance to meet and work with partners who are experts in their fields. After one of my assignments, a partner took an hour and a half of his time to sit down and not only review my work, but also answer my questions. It was a casual, hands-on learning experience with an industry expert.

The summer program has been both informative and fun. The firm's culture is truly open and supportive. Every time I received an assignment from an associate or a partner, the attorney took the time to explain not only the assignment, but also the context to me. It's obvious that everyone here wants the associates to succeed.

From partners taking time out of their day to review the structure of a deal, to associates reviewing the finer details of each transaction document, the summer program is designed to promote the growth of each and every summer associate.

Why Schulte?

Choosing the right place for your career is important. If you join our team, we can offer you a unique experience.

At Schulte, we are known for two things: doing great work in the financial services sector — and many related industries — and doing things a little differently than many of our peers. Our firm culture defines who we are, and we are committed to fostering conditions that allow our lawyers to develop their skills. We're proud to have a team of young, dynamic and entrepreneurial lawyers, complemented by experienced partners who are considered the best in their field. We have an atmosphere of professional informality where our lawyers are encouraged to be themselves and work collaboratively across practice groups. We work as a team to fulfill our clients' needs, and we encourage client contact early in our associates' careers. Our resources, people and expertise are what make us great. We hope you will continue to explore a career with Schulte.

We encourage you to visit our website or contact the Recruiting Department for more information about our firm.

Because I'm often working with both a partner and associate on an assignment, I get to see intricate fund structures come together up close and form the greater picture. This stellar mentoring and instruction has given me a great look at what it is like to practice at a top investment management firm.

From the beginning, I already felt I was part of the Schulte family. Schulte's open-door policy is refreshing and helps summer associates truly feel integrated at the firm throughout the program.

The mock LBO was a great way to kick off the summer. Not only did I learn the 'big picture' behind a deal by drafting provisions, conducting due diligence and negotiating, but I also really bonded with the other summer associates on my team. It was a great way to learn, have fun and meet the rest of the summer class.

From day one, I was pleasantly surprised by the diversity of backgrounds represented by our summer class. Throughout the summer program, I was even more impressed by how diverse the firm is as a whole and the extent to which diversity is embraced and valued at Schulte.
