

LIBOR Transition Team

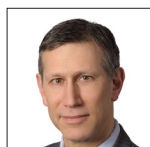

Schulte Roth & Zabel's LIBOR Transition Team is a multidisciplinary group that assists clients in navigating and preparing for the discontinuation of LIBOR, including identifying investments and contracts that will be affected, measuring the risks of transition, assessing remediation possibilities and planning for implementation and considering potential effects on operations and technology, potential reporting issues, and potential tax, regulatory and litigation issues. If you have questions regarding the LIBOR transition, please contact any member of the team below.
