Schulte Attorneys Explain Final Rule on Margin Requirements for Non-Cleared Swaps

January 2016

In a recent article published by The Hedge Fund Journal, partner Craig Stein and associate Sean D. Locklear discuss the final rule adopted by a group of five U.S. banking regulators that establishes minimum margin and capital requirements for non-cleared swaps and non-cleared security-based swaps. The rule will likely require amendments to current trading documentation and result in increased costs for many market participants.
