Focuses on complex commercial litigation with an emphasis on the financial services industry.

Ajay's clients include privately and publicly held companies, private investment funds, investment managers and financial institutions involved in high-stakes commercial disputes.

He also has substantial experience in litigation concerning the life settlement asset class, representing investors in cases against life insurance companies and estates that seek to invalidate high-value life insurance policies that are purchased on the secondary or tertiary markets.

THE BEST PART OF MY JOB IS

“Helping my clients navigate through nuanced and rapidly evolving areas of the law.”
