2016 Shareholder Activism Insight Report

October 2016

SRZ's 2016 Shareholder Activism Insight report provides a comprehensive analysis of the views of leading activists on the current state of shareholder activism and their expectations for activity in the year ahead. With data compiled from surveying many of the leading activists in the market today, the report discusses the wide-ranging drivers behind the growth and increasing acceptance of shareholder activism, and reveals what activists foresee in the 2017 season.

Key findings from the report give insight into the types of opportunities activists are pursuing, the challenges activists face in reaching resolutions with management teams, and how activists target and evaluate a potential investment, among other topics. Partners and co-chairs of the firm's global shareholder activism practice Marc Weingarten and Eleazer Klein, along with London-based shareholder activism partner Jim McNally, contributed to the report, which was published in association with Activist Insight and FTI Consulting.
